

Executives from Citra Health Solutions invited to Present at J.P. Morgan Healthcare Conference

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. – January 8, 2016 – Citra Health Solutions announced today that Howard Buff, CEO and Founder, and Eric Olofson, Chief Operating Officer and Chief Information Officer will be in San Francisco next week for a First Analysis presentation at J.P. Morgan's 34th Annual Healthcare Conference.

As a transformational leader in the movement to value-based care, Buff and Olofson have been asked to present an overview of Citra Health Solutions and the ability to provide constituents across the continuum with the best mix of industry leading services and technology, enabling them to thrive in the changing healthcare environment.

For two days, the pair of executives will be collaborating with some of the top mind leadership in healthcare while holding private presentations with investors from all around the world. The Citra First Analysis presentation will take place at 2:00 p.m. PST on Monday, January 11, 2016. The slide presentation and a live audio version of the presentation will be available in the Knowledge Center on Citra's website.

About Citra Health Solutions

Citra Health Solutions aligns the needs of providers and patients with a focus on better health and more efficient value-based management. By combining scalable services with technical solutions, Citra enables its partners to optimize business practices while improving health outcomes for patients. To learn more, visit www.citrahealth.com.

For more information contact:

Kristi R. Stovall, VP Marketing & Brand Management
Citra Health Solutions
Phone 904.423.1785
Email: kstovall@citrahealth.com